Soviet Withdraws Pilots From Laos

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP)—Soviet Embassy sources said today the Soviet Union is withdrawing the Soviet pilots and mechanics who have been helping to fly the Soviet-supplied transport planes belonging to the pro-Communist Pathet Lao faction.

The sources said Moscow took this decision when the present crisis between neutralist and Pathet Lao troops erupted in the Plaine des Jarnes six weeks ago.

"If we continue to help only one faction, we may be accused of interfering in Laos' internal affairs," the Soviets said.

The last group of 18 pilots and mechanics—out of an original 79—is scheduled to leave for home in the next two or three days.

AUTO SMASHES INTO STATION; DRIVER IS HELD

Edgar A. Riley, 64, of 692 S. Washington St., was placed in the county jail on a reckless driving charge Saturday evening following an accident at 9:20 o'clock on Buford Ave. involving three cars and the Shell gasoline station.

According to borough police, Riley was driving west on Buford Ave. Ahead of him a westbound car operated by Howard H. Shultz, 56, Biglerville R. 1, had stopped on the highway preparatory to making a turn into the Shell service station owned by Dale Arnold, 32 N. Howard Ave. In the service station lot, getting gas from a pump was the car of Thomas L. Brown, 57, Gettysburg R. 1.

Police said Riley's car struck the left front fender and wheel of Shultz' car, then went out of control through shrubbery into the service station lot. There the Riley car struck the Brown auto, and becoming fastened to the Brown vehicle, dragged it along until the Riley auto smashed into the side and door of the service station, where it came to rest.

Police estimated damage to the Riley car at $200, to the Shultz and Brown vehicles at $100 each and to the service station shrubbery, door, side, wiring and a service station sign that was run over, at $100.

Police listed no injuries. Riley posted a forfeit fine Sunday before Justice of the Peace Robert P. Snyder and was released from jail.

COEDS INCITE 'PANTY RAID'

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP)—Sunday night was a balmy spring night of the sort that traditionally prompts such campus madness as panty raids.

Sure enough, there was a panty raid. Only it was staged in reverse by some 30 to 40 girls from Radcliffe College.

The girls marched to Winthrop House at neighboring Harvard College, stood outside its ivied walls and shouted, "BVD's for me."

After an initial barrage of water and a few BVD's the boys poured out of the dormitory and joined their tormentors.

One good raid deserved another and before long some 1,500 students were marching through Harvard Square crying, "On to Radcliffe."

Police efforts to disperse the students failed and the singing, cheering mob descended on the Radcliffe dormitories. After collecting a few undergraduates thrown from windows, the crowd left.

Police said five men were arrested, four of them students. They said there was no property damage or violence.

The two pilots, Capt. Ben W. Stutts, Florence, Ala., and Capt. Charleton W. Voltz, Frankfort, Mich., were shelled and forced down Friday when their H23 helicopter crossed the Han River estuary. This is the Western boundary of the 155-mile long armistice demarcation line.

Charles Smith, Mr. and Mrs. John Kendelhart, Donald Myers, Tim McCarthy and Philip Kendelhart. Mrs. McCarthy is director for the group and Mrs. MacPhail the accompanist.

Mrs. Adele Gutman Nathan, director for the State Battle Anniversary Commission, and Louis Simons, secretary of the commission, welcomed the horsemen and told the group of the events planned for the centennial.

Heiss, Plank and Sheely of the 87th demonstrated the firing of the muskets of the Civil War and Charles A. Zeiders, Harrisburg, demonstrated the firing of the Pennsylvania rifle of frontier days.

Harvey Warner, owner of the Peace Light Inn, provided wood for a campfire used during the program Saturday night at the inn. The Gettysburg Fire Department, under the direction of Assistant Chief Charles J. Kerrihan, assisted by the Junior Firemen, built the campfire and extinguished it when the program was over. LeRoy Winebrenner led the horsemen on a tour of the battlefield on Sunday. State police escorted the group to Waynesboro.

The riders, coming here from York Saturday afternoon, found some of their horses needed more rest and sent them ahead to stay at the LeRoy Winebrenner farm. Thus only seven of the group rode to Gettysburg on horseback.

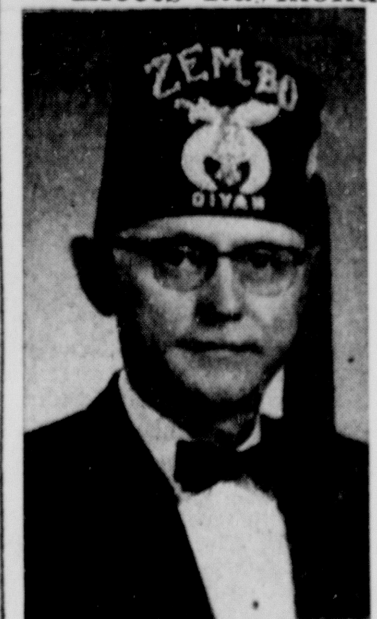

They arrived about 15 minutes before the scheduled reception on the square, but drummer boy Wesley Ayre, 1st Sgt. Curvin Heiss and Pts. Robert Plank and Donald Sheely were on hand to greet them. Ayre, Heiss, Plank and Sheely are members of the reconstituted 87th Penna. and were in authentic Civil War uniforms to greet the "frontiersmen."

Greeting the group on horseback was Ralph Shetter, Biglerville, representing the Travel Council.

The horsemen then rode to the Peace Light Inn where Col. Eisenhower met them later.

A public program was held at the Peace Light Inn Saturday night for the "long rifle" riders. Members of the Hershey Region of the Antique Automobile Club of America, headed by Director Marlin H. 300 SCOUTS AT CAMP AT DAM

Approximately 300 Boy Scouts and leaders of Conewago District participated in the joint weekend spring nature course and camporee at Camp Conewago, Dick's Dam.

Installation of tile drain line at the camp's athletic and camping field was in charge of Bobby Rakestraw, Gettysburg, a representative of the U. S. Department of Agriculture Conservation Service. The project was part of a requirement for a Scout's merit badge.

Film of a recent African safari was shown Saturday evening by William (Bill) Conley, York. Faber Wildasin, Abbottstown, served as song leader at campfire ceremonies.

Catholic Mass and Communion were conducted at the camp's outdoor chapel Sunday morning by Rev. Fr. Paul Aumen, superior of the Precious Blood Fathers, Chile, South America. Father Aumen, who is on a furlough, is a son of Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Aumen, Abbottstown R. 1, who also attended the Mass.

Protestant services were conducted by Merrill Kessler, Scoutmaster of Troop 102, St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Hanover.

Troop participation ribbons and individual medallions were presented at retreat ceremonies Sunday afternoon by Norman L. Harman, McSherrystown, who served as camping director. Merrill Yohe, New Oxford, was in charge of the nature course activities.

FORMER LOCAL MAN MARRIED

Miss Alice Virginia Erb, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eckert S. Erb, East Petersburg, Pa., was wed to Thomas H. McMurray Jr., son of Dr. and Mrs. T. Harold McMurray, Lancaster, formerly of Gettysburg, at the Grace Evangelical Congregational Church in East Petersburg Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock by the Rev. Dr. Howard Schley Fox, pastor of Trinity Reformed Church, assisted by the Rev. William Eisenhower.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a full-length gown of silk organza over taffeta, fashioned with a scoop neckline, long tapered sleeves and bell-shaped skirt floating into a semi-cathedral train. The gown was highlighted by appliques of lace at the neckline and in the skirt. Her bouffant elbow-length veil of silk illusion was held by lace petals. She carried a white orchid on a Bible.

The aid of honor was Miss Mary Erb, sister of the bride. The bridal attendants were Mrs. Paul G. Mosch, Coudersport, Pa., sister of the groom, and Miss Charlotte Crosier, Harrisburg. Dr. Paul G. Mosch, brother-in-law of the groom, served as best man and the ushers were Robert Hostetter, Lancaster; Samuel Shull, Media; Eckert S. Erb Jr. and Everett M. Erb, brothers of the bride.

Following a reception held at Overlook, the couple left on a wedding trip to Quebec after which they will be at home in Lancaster. The bride graduated from Mepfield High School and Harrisburg Institute of Medical Arts. She is employed as a medical secretary in the Lancaster General Hospital laboratory. The groom graduated from Manheim Township High School and served two years in the U.S. Army. He is employed at Donnelley Printing Company.

The information given the police Saturday night was that a number of persons from Chambersburg had parked at the Gettysburg Shopping Center lot and were "coming to town to make trouble" and were "carrying knives, clubs and guns."

Police went to the parking lot and found nine negro men there. On arrival of the police, all nine took to their heels, but the officers captured three. None of the three had any weapons, police said, but a large club was found in the car owned by Driver.

Police charged Driver before Justice of the Peace Robert S. Snyder with disorderly conduct and set the two others free. In default of fine and costs Driver was placed in the jail.

to add another note in the history of the nation—joining the frontiersmen and the Civil War groups.

About 300 gathered for the program. Drummer Wesley Ayre opened the campfire program with a roll of the drums. John Smarsh of the National Park Service demonstrated the difference between the muzzle loading musket used by most of the soldiers at the Battle of Gettysburg and the repeating rifle used by part of the cavalry.

The "Just For Fun Chorus," garbed in Civil War clothes, presented a program of Civil War songs put together in the form of a program narrated by Edwin Kann.

Saturday Crashes Cause Heavy Loss

No one was injured and damage totaled $1,000 in two accidents investigated Saturday by state police from the local substation.

A car driven by Sarah E. Spalde, 47, Hampton, and a truck operated by John C. Berwager, 29, East Berlin R. 1, collided three miles east of Hampton, on the East Berlin Rd., at 6:15 o'clock Saturday night. At 3:05 Saturday afternoon a car operated by Raymond Coffman, 21, Hagerstown, was forced off the road by an unknown auto 2½ miles east of Fairfield on the Gettysburg Rd. The Coffman car upset. Damage was estimated at $200.

PTA WANTS AID FOR CHILDREN

By G. K. HODENFIELD

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—The President of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers called today for a massive national attack on the problems of disadvantaged children.

Mrs. Clifford N. Jenkins told the group's annual convention "our nation cannot prosper half privileged and half deprived." For perhaps 10 or 11 million children, Mrs. Jenkins said in a keynote address, "the world is a bleak and chilly place."

"They are the children of migrant workers. They are children who crowd the gray areas of our great cities—children of the slums. They are the children of immigrants from Puerto Rico, the South and the depressed areas of our country."

The plight of these children is only one of the problems facing the 47,000 local PTAs, Mrs. Jenkins said.

"Serious problems of group relations exist in the North, South, East and West," she added.

"School dropouts and unemployed youth are a nationwide problem in both cities and rural areas."

the defense of their homes." However, they were outnumbered three-to-one in manpower, and were at a disadvantage in wealth, lacking industrial and agricultural support, credit and rail facilities to wage a long and expensive war.

"J. E. B. Stuart recognized the handicap of manpower," Bloom said, "but said that 'esprit will replace numbers' in the struggle." A grandson of Stuart is a member of the NYCWRT and attended the meetings.

"Both sides made mistakes," the speaker continued, "but the North had the strength to survive them; the South could not afford to correct theirs." Bloom said that in his opinion "General Grant was one of the greatest leaders of the war, while General Lee, although he was a superb tactician, often regarded the war as a 'local affair' and could not forget the rules in time to adapt himself sufficiently."

"Grant grew as the war progressed and profited from the mistakes of other military leaders. He was modern-minded and was superior to all other Union leaders."

Both sides were at a disadvantage because none of the military leaders had the experience of fighting this kind of war, the speaker explained. None had ever commanded any group larger than a brigade and their experiences were confined to minor skirmishes with the Indians. The average age of the northern leaders was considerably younger than that of southern generals, and they were able to withstand the rigors of war far better than the south had anticipated they could.

"Also, the southern troops were unable to submit to discipline. They loved liberty. Northern leaders were far better able to install discipline and organization in their ranks."

COST STILL UNKNOWN

In addition, Bloom related, "Jefferson Davis neglected civilian programs for military prominence" and home-front morale began to sag. A shortage of tools, machines and credit affected the southern economy and Davis lacked the ability to organize it. "We still do not know how much the war cost the Confederacy," Bloom said, because of the looseness of their organization. "Davis surrounded himself with mediocre men, and could not communicate conviction or inspiration to the southern people. He also interfered in tactical matters and shoddy mass media, and materialistic values are a national concern."

failed miserably as a political leader."

"The Southerners were victims of their own propaganda," Bloom asserted, and they failed to find a wise leader in Davis. Lincoln, on the other hand, he said, acted with legislative support in time of need and imposed censorship of all kinds where it was needed, even to the arrest of numerous editors who were charged with subversion.

European powers viewed the Civil War as "democracy on trial. The Europeans detested slavery," he explained, and the South's representative in London was unable to impress foreign governments in his appeal for their support.

The War Department has issued orders to stop the exportation of horses, mules and cattle. All caught in transit will be seized, appraised, and taken for Government use. Commanders of Departments are also directed to be vigilant in preventing the exportation of arms and war material. Orders are also published directing all officers and men included in the recent exchanges to repair at once to their several commands.

Death Of Stonewall Jackson:

The Washington Chronicle, in noticing the announcement of the death of General Jackson, says: "Stonewall Jackson is dead. While we are only too glad to be rid, in any way, of so terrible a foe, our sense of relief is not unmingled with emotions of sorrow and sympathy at the death of so brave a man. Every man who possesses the slightest particle of magnanimity must admire the qualities for which Stonewall Jackson was celebrated — his heroism, his bravery, his sublime devotion, his purity of character. He is not the first instance of a good man devoting himself to a bad cause. Let us devoutly acknowledge the providence of God who, while he smites that accursed land with famine, and the people with madness, takes from their accursed cause, its bravest, noblest and purest defender. Stonewall Jackson was a great General, a brave soldier, a noble Christian, and a pure man. May God throw these great virtues against the sins of the Secessionist — the advocate of a great national crime."

A correspondent of the Cincinnati Commercial, writing from Stanford, Ky., says: "We have in this place a hotel keeper who is the only man who voted for Abraham Lincoln in the county that bears his name. His name is William Yates. His head is whitened by the frosts of seventy winters, and he is a slaveholder. During the memorable campaign that resulted in the success of the Republicans, it became known that he thought of voting for Mr. Lincoln. A committee of several influential citizens waited upon him and told him that if he persisted in his course they would feel compelled to withdraw their patronage and influence from his hotel. But the destruction of business was nothing with the honest old patriot, compared with the sacrifice of principle, and he voted as he thought his duty demanded."

Board Of Trade: At the meeting of the Board of Trade held yesterday evening, no business was transacted, except the election of officers for the ensuing year: resident — Hon. David Willis; First Vice Pres., Winfield S. Schroder; Second Vice Pres., J. Emory Bair; Secretary, Martin Winter; Treasurer, Harry J. Stine.

Runaway: Much excitement was created on Baltimore street Friday morning by two runaways. The team of William Hummer was standing in front of Dr. J. W. C. O'Neal's and took fright at John Socks' four-horse mule team. The former dashed rapidly down Baltimore street and was stopped in front of Mr. Schriver's store after having left the most of the wagon scattered along the route. Mr. Socks "hung on" to his brakes and got his team stopped near the square. Nobody hurt, but a good many people scared.

Today's Talk

GOODWILL

The most valuable possession a human being can own is not a great estate, not dividend-paying securities, not high public honors, though well earned, not a big home or an expensive latest-model car—but just plain goodwill!

When a man dies people think most about the good that he did, of the friends to whom he cemented himself in affection, of the useful works upon the time in which he lived. That which he leaves behind is his goodwill.

In life, and in business, this is the thing that characterizes the worth of both the man and his business.

A trade-mark upon a superior article is suggestive of the goodwill behind it. A man's business integrity is one of the agents of his goodwill.

Your personal Goodwill is worth every effort made to make it stand out as characteristic of you — for it is the one thing that remains after everything else may have been swept away. Goodwill is intangible.

Peace and goodwill was the message that was sent out from the manger where Christianity was born. Goodwill as a spiritual asset, and goodwill as a corner-stone for the building of a character that is the basis for all success and happiness, should be the purpose of us all.

Even failure leaves behind it goodwill, if the efforts consumed were founded upon the right principles. A man with an honest goodwill behind his name and achievements may fail a dozen times or more, yet rise again!

Think this over. What kind of goodwill are you building? Has it living value?

RICHES
There are some things of value, life bestows.

Riches of spirit and the tints of grace
Which lift a man above the commonplace,
And make him long remembered when he goes.

A good name is beyond the rage of foes,
And past the power of gossip to debase,
He has achieved who, through the years, can trace

The fair esteem of everyone he knows,
Success lies not alone in wealth or fame,
'Tis in a neighbor's love and friendship true,

A humble garden may as truly claim
God's morning sunshine and the evening dew,
Peace and rich memories with life's sunset fall

To him who has been gentle through it all.

theran Church in East Berlin was laid on Sunday with appropriate services. Rev. Dr. Joel Swartz, of this place, preached the sermon. The choir under the leadership of Prof. Kissinger, of York, furnished some fine music.

The Memorial Church: The excavation for the foundation of the Episcopal Memorial church will be commenced this week. The building will set back twenty feet from Baltimore street and five feet from High street, with a tower extending 11 feet toward Baltimore street. All the stone work of the building will be of native granite and its dimensions will be one hundred feet deep, with an extreme width of fifty-five feet. The tower, on the inside, will be constructed of smooth finished granite and will contain a spiral stairway running up the center. All memorial tablets will be within, none outside the building. It is intended to lay the cornerstone on the 4th of July. Mr. W. A. Slagle, contractor of the New College building, will represent Mr. J. A. Dempwolf in the erection of the building and Mr. J. M. Warner will have general charge of the work. The contract for the stone has been awarded to Messrs. Tawney and Roach.

The Weeder's Guide

By EARL ARONSON
The Associated Press

A small, oval flower bed beside our house is a memorial to a big popular tree, three large-size blisters and a broken ax handle.

The ailing tree had been removed the week before we moved in. A big, raw stump about three inches above the ground remained as an eyesore. So we set out to cut it below the ground level. The job was tough and took many hours.

This type of chore has been simplified. Arborists and landscape contractors have a grinding machine now that pulverizes stumps to a depth adequate for planting a grass cover or flowers that don't send down deep roots.

The grinder is a wheel with stubby, strong teeth. The rapidly spinning wheel is moved slowly over the stump and the teeth do the work.

TOMATOES EASY

Tomatoes are one of the easiest vegetables to grow. They will thrive in ordinary garden soil if provided enough water and a bit of plant food. If you want nicer-looking fruit, keep the vines staked.

If your tomatoes have a tendency to crack, you probably will do better with one of several varieties that are more crack resistant. These include Cardinal Hybrid, Fireball, Crack Proof, Pritchard, Perfection Hybrid and Glamour.

For the small garden, it is hardly worthwhile growing your own seedlings when you may buy a dozen or 15 plants for so little. We planted seeds one year but vowed never again. It was too much trouble.

By now, you should have planted your lettuce, broccoli, carrots, beets and other so-called cool-weather vegetables. You may make second plantings of these items almost as late as mid-summer for fall harvesting.

Wait until all danger of frost has passed before planting more tender vegetables. Plant several varieties of corn with varying maturity dates for a fresh supply over a longer period, or stagger plantings of the same kind.

DUTCH ELM DISEASE

There is a hopeful word for those fighting the devastating Dutch elm disease. Dale M. Norris, University of Wisconsin entomologist, says a systemic chemical called Shell 3562 appears to be a "highly effective control agent with commercial potential."

This chemical is implanted in the vascular system of the elm and is carried through the branches and into the bark tissue. The chemical thus kills bark beetles, which spread the disease-causing fungus.

Bird lovers also will be encouraged by Shell 3562, which Norris reported reduces the threat to bird life, endangered by sprays containing DDT.

With systemics, he said, "we can confine the chemical to the tree . . . without contaminating the area. From the standpoint of bird life, this would be better, although there could be a hazard to the sapsuckers . . ."

Flames from different woods do different dances in your fireplace. Depending on the variety of wood is the fragrance of the fire, the sparks or crackling, the intensity or gentleness of the heat.

One of the favorites, especially in the east, is the apple log, a top performer for aroma, dancing flame and sparks and strong heat. The resinous white pine and related firs produce headier incense.

Logs of high moisture content such as catalpa give you a fire-cracker blaze that crackles and sparks. If you use such wood be sure to screen your fireplace carefully against flying sparks.

The heavier the wood the more heat, is the general rule. White oak and hickory are among the leaders, followed by birch, sugar maple, red oak, white ash and apple. Elm, while it will produce heat, is not a particularly good firewood. Of course, almost any tree will supply firewood if you give it time to age and dry.

A bag made of a new nonwoven fabric is helping horticulturalists and forestry folk control pollination. The bags are placed over branch tips bearing female buds before pollination occurs. This prevents outside contamination from stray pollen. When the bud breaks into flower, the bag is pierced by a hypodermic syringe containing pollen from specially selected specimens. The pollen is blown onto the flowers, the bag is removed and the flower is left to set its seed.

DESIGNER HIT FASHION TRADE IN NATIVE ART

By CAROL KENNEDY

DUBLIN (AP) — "It all started with a red flannel petticoat."

The words sound out of place in the elegant Georgian drawing room overlooking Merrion Square where Sybil Connolly, Ireland's best-known designer abroad, entertains visitors in the grand manner.

In nine years the names of Connolly, Irene Gilbert and Kay Petersen's new Anna Livia Boutique have put Irish fashion firmly on the international map. No longer are the words "handwoven tweed" synonymous with arty peasant crafts — the hallmark of all three major designers is an original and highly sophisticated use of exquisite handmade native materials.

In North America, particularly, the Dublin couturiers are regarded as exclusively "different" from those of Paris or London. Each of the "Big Three" has her own specialty among the local fabrics. Sybil Connolly's is gossamer-fine Irish linen, hand-pleated and stitched to form a light, uncrushable, hard-wearing material with a richly textured feel.

RED WAS A HIT

She makes it up into cocktail and evening gowns, dyed in brilliant pinks, bronze-gold and slate-blue. Unbleached, it forms the sealed again for 10 days, and then removed.

The manufacturer (Pellon) says the new bag breathes, withstands all climatic conditions, is porous, allowing moisture and air to flow through and prevent any buildup of heat or condensation, and has good rot and sun resistance while preventing foreign particles from entering. One bag will last all season and a small window permits observation of the plant's progress.

All-America Gladiolus Selections has given top 1963 honors to four new varieties, three of them developed by Carl Fischer. They are:

FRISKY (248) by Marion C. Rich, a small glad good for exhibition, cutting or arrangements, with a golden piceote edge on the velvety deep scarlet florets from its grandparent, Atom.

GOLDILOCKS (216), another small glad of golden yellow color in waxy sculptured form with well-proportioned spikes.

MORNING SUN (416), a deep yellow, tall and graceful with sturdy spikes of up to 22 buds. The color is smooth and intense.

VICTORY (436), a brilliant scarlet, opening eight to 10 saucer-like florets on strong spikes.

And a reminder of the 15 previous award winners: Thunderbird, Horizon, Ben-Hur, China Blue, Landmark, Rusty, Royal Stewart, Little Pansy, Joyous, Gypsy Dancer, Sparkler, Caribbean, Maytime, Appleblossom and Emperor.

degree at the University of Pennsylvania in 1920.

In 1914 West Chester High School selected him to head its commercial department as the only person they could find in the U.S. who had both a college degree and practical business experience. While teaching at West Chester he also taught night school at Eagan School of Business in Hoboken, N. J., became Scoutmaster of Troop 1 at New Chester and organized the Sea Scout troop there and attended the University of Pennsylvania.

He also served as a Scoutmaster in Gettysburg after coming here. In September, 1918, he enlisted in the tank corps, hoping to come to Camp Colt at Gettysburg, but was not ordered to report here until a few days before the Armistice.

ART AUTHORITY

In 1920 he was named assistant professor of education at Gettysburg College and the following year became professor of education, a post he held until his retirement a few years ago.

He was a member of Highland Lodge No. 80, F. and A.M. of Jersey City, N.J.; Enoch Chapter No. 23, RAM, Frederick, Md.; the Knights Templar, Zumbo Mosque, Harrisburg; Phi Sigma Kappa, Phi Delta Kappa, Kappa Phi Kappa, and Phi Beta Kappa. He served wall covering of her Dublin salon, setting off the gilt empire furniture and moss green carpets.

Yet all started with that red flannel petticoat worn by a peasant woman in a cottage doorway in Connemara. In the spring of 1953, Sybil Connolly was brooding over her first collection on a motor tour of Western Ireland. "I stopped the car and thought 'I must have that in my collection.'"

She bought yards of the traditional red flannel, quilted it and made it into a long evening skirt. Teamed with a white crocheted blouse, it bowled over the American buyers at the show. It still is a top seller in the Connolly boutique.

Tipperary-born Irene Gilbert, an aristocratic-looking woman with the reserved charm warming into gaiety that forms a distinctive "Dublin manner," was Ireland's first couturier. She began in 1947 and has perhaps been unfairly overshadowed by the publicity given abroad to Connolly's clothes.

BUYS OLD GOWNS

Miss Gilbert's hallmark is Carriemacross lace, hand-sewn by nuns and cottagers to age-old designs, mounted on fine net and made up into filmy cocktail frocks and blouses for movie stars and members of the Irish county nobility.

Besides commissioning work, Miss Gilbert buys up lace wedding gowns and christening veils from the treasure chests of old ladies. She remodels the leg o' mutton sleeves and tight bodices into a line as modern as the twist — a delicate job because of the risk of cutting the edges of the lace patterns.

Most Irish couture clothes go overseas — the republic is still too poor and underpopulated to support such a luxury industry — but Dublin is one of the few capitals left where people dress formally for private dinner-parties, and Irene Gilbert's casual elegant styles are widely seen in the castles that form the hub of Irish county society.

SUMMERHOUSE

REGAINS FAME

The old-fashioned American summerhouse, a wooden airy structure is being rediscovered. Sometimes it's in new forms such as metal and screen-enclosed; often it's near a swimming pool.

Easy to build of any size, shape, quality, design, a summerhouse is the solution for many families who get no further than their backyard in summer. It is a wonderful spot for the man of the family to relax with newspapers, and can furnish an afternoon respite for the housewife equipped with tea or coffee pot and hibachi.

But the modern woman suggesting an inexpensive summerhouse to her do-it-yourselfer is likely to run into the usual snag as he grows — "What do women know about costs? Lumber, windows, doors are expensive?"

MAY BE SIMPLE

Men think big. You don't need a guest house or a real production to get away from it all. You can find contentment and well-being with a few feet of earth, a roof to protect you from sun and showers and a place to sit down.

An American version of the Oriental type summerhouse could be the least expensive to build. A unit that consists of one wall, four uprights and railings between uprights on either side with benches that face each other and a long bench along the back wall could be an inexpensive project. The wall has an open-air window-muntins but no panes of glass. No floor is required, but gravel gives a clean look, if you don't want grass.

A tree stump need not keep you from a site. Utilize it as the Oriental do. Put a heavy round out that at the conclusion she would be only two courses short of graduation requirements.

"So I asked the principal if I could add one course for each semester, one in history and one in English, and he agreed," she says. "So here I am."

GOES AT OWN PACE

"I don't find I have any particular problems," Susan emphasizes. "And I think that's because I've been allowed to go at my own pace. No one has been pushing me."

As for her classmates, Susan thinks her boy colleagues are pretty smart and she isn't aware of any isolation. In the women's dormitories, she is accepted as just another student. The women at MIT enjoy special living quarters, with tutors — a married couple — presiding over each dormitory. Next fall, through the million-dollar gift of a woman alumna, all the women's living quarters will be consolidated at a site overlooking the Charles River.

Susan feels no sense of strangeness in being in a school predominantly populated by men. Her choice of studying medicine included recognizing in advance that she was entering a field of study in which women are heavily outnumbered.

FASCINATING FIELD

Will she ultimately marry? Susan isn't ready to commit herself. Her MIT friends say "she has a good head on her shoulders," and her balanced outlook toward the future is shown in her words. "Any girl thinks of marriage as something that may be in her future and will require a future decision."

But at the present, Susan explains, she looks forward to medical research.

"I especially am interested in the molecular side, the atomic side," she says. "Biochemistry is fascinating and I may get into nerves — the molecular angle."

The main idea is to get away from it all, especially the house where work is always staring one in the face.

As patron for the local Eastern Star for many years, and was a life member of the National Education Association. He was a past president of the Southern District of the Pennsylvania State Education Association, a member of the American Association of School Administrators, National Secondary School Principals Association, and American Association of University Professors.

He became interested in Chinese jade and became an authority on the work of the Chinese artists. A portion of his collection of jade was given to Gettysburg College recently. He spoke widely on the subject of jade, illustrating it with articles from his collection. In recent years since retirement he had conducted a class at the college for those interested in Chinese jade.

Surviving is his widow, the former Mildred LaFollette McKee, whom he wed June 13, 1936.

Funeral services will be held Thursday morning at 10 o'clock in the Gettysburg College Chapel with the pastor of Christ Lutheran Church, the Rev. Dr. Robert Koons, officiating. Interment in Evergreen Cemetery. There will not be a viewing and there is a request that flowers be omitted.

The Moose and Gettysburg National Bank chalked up victories in the doubleheader Saturday afternoon which marked the opening of the Little League season.

In the opening game the Moose scored seven runs on six hits in the fifth inning to down the Elks 10-4 and in the nightcap the Gettysburg National Bank scored all of their runs in the final two innings to take a 6-2 verdict from the Glenn L. Bream outfit.

The Elks tabbed three runs on two hits in the first inning of the opening game before Carl Swinn homered with Steve Williams aboard for the Moose in the third frame. Williams rapped three safeties for the Elks while Maitland clubbed a trio for the Elks.

The Bream team tallied a run in the first inning of the second game via Brad Stahle's single and two wild pitches, but in the fifth the Bank pushed over three runs on hits by B. Johnson, Shoemaker and L. Johnson. After Bream's added a run in the fifth on a double by Green and single by Stahle, the Bank iced the game with three tallies in the sixth.

Stahle and Bob Johnson led their respective teams with three hits apiece.

DODGERS' ACES SWEEP PAIR FROM METS; GIANTS SPLIT

By JIM HACKLEMAN

In a drive triggered and powered by golden-armed Sandy Koufax and sustained by star finisher Ron Perranoski, the Los Angeles Dodgers have left-handed their way to within one length of the lead in the National League race.

Masterful pitching by the two southpaws paced the Dodgers to a doubleheader sweep Sunday over the New York Mets. Koufax fired a two-hitter for a 1-0 triumph in the opener and Perranoski registered seven scoreless innings of relief in winning the second game 4-2 on Frank Howard's two-run homer in the 13th.

BUCS END STRFAK

The twin victories made it six straight for the Dodgers, who have won nine of their last 10 and 11 off 13 in a push that leaves them just one game behind San Francisco's first-place Giants.

The Giants salvaged a doubleheader split with Philadelphia when Felipe Alou homered with one out in the ninth for a 6-5 second game decision. Cal McLish blanked San Francisco 3-0 on five hits in the first game.

Elsewhere in the NL—the Milwaukee Braves coasted to an 8-2 romp over Chicago behind old master Warren Spahn after being edged 3-2 by the Cubs and Dick Ellsworth; Frank Robinson and Jerry Lynch led Cincinnati over St. Louis 10-6; and Bob Friend pitched Pittsburgh to a 5-0 victory over Houston that ended the Pirates' losing string at five games.

Alou won for the Giants when he tagged Ryne Duren with one out in the last of the ninth. The Phils had drawn even in the top of the inning with Jim Lemon's pinch double driving in the tying run. Bob Bolin won in relief.

McLish handed the Giants their second straight shutout in the opener. Doubles by Tony Taylor, Tony Gonzalez and Don Demeter gave Philadelphia two runs in the first inning against loser Jack Fisher.

Spahn was touched for 14 Cub hits, including Jim Schaffer's homer, but still won his sixth of the year and the 33rd of his marvelous career. Eddie Mathews had a homer and three runs batted in for Milwaukee.

The Cubs racked Lew Burdette for three runs on four hits and a walk in the opening inning of the first game and Ellsworth made the lead stand up. Hank Aaron delivered the Milwaukee runs, clouting his 13th homer with one on in the eighth.

Lynch and Robinson batted in three runs each for the Reds, who clinched it against the Cardinals with a five-run sixth. Joe Nuxhall went all the way for Cincinnati, lasting out a 15-hit St. Louis barrage. Bob Gibson yielded all 10 Cincinnati runs.

Friend had to pitch out of several jams against the Colts, finishing with a nine-hitter. Bill Mazeroski singled in the first Pirate run in the fourth off Dick Farrell and later hit a two-run single.

The nationwide observance was to remind one of man's obligation to God as steward of the soil, water and other related resources. The pastor, the Rev. William C. Karns, delivered a sermon on the theme "Stewards of God's Good Earth."

The epistle lesson was read from James 1:22-27 and the gospel lesson from John 16:23-30. An anthem was sung by the choir, Elmer Coppersmith, Charles H. Boyd, Charles Sentz and Edgar E. USE OF STATE RESERVOIRS BEING STUDIED

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army Engineers, acting after a request by Sen. Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa., are studying ways to increase the recreational use of Pennsylvania reservoirs.

The senator last March asked the engineers to study the recreational potential of the Tionesta Reservoir in Forest County, the Youghiogheny Reservoir in Fayette and Somerset Counties and a proposed reservoir in Erie County.

The senator said over the weekend that the engineers are looking into possible recreational use of all reservoirs, including those built only for impoundment.

He said talks with local officials have started on the recreational potential of the Indian Rock flood control dam in York County.

The engineers are already working on recreation plans for the Prompton Reservoir project in Wayne County. Work on similar plans for the Tionesta and Youghiogheny will begin in the fiscal year starting July 1, according to the senator.

MUSKOGEE, Okla. (AP) — Mickey Wright, who won a third of the women's professional golf tournaments last year, has a good start today toward improving on that mark.

Miss Wright tucked away her fourth tourney triumph of the young season Sunday when she shot a 68—equalling the course record—for an 8-stroke victory in the $8,000 Muskogee Women's Open Golf Tournament.

A Lovelier You

By MARY SUE MILLER

HANDY TRICK. The prom contingent has a perennial problem—small but none the less unsettling: How to keep the hands pristine when it is warm outside and warmer on the dance floor. It's then, the girls report, that hands perspire to the point where the situation gets positively sticky. Well, my lovelies, the oldest answer to the problem is to wear gloves while dancing. It was for more than a point of etiquette that gloves were considered good form in other days.

As for the newest and most convenient solution, it comes in the guise of gentle, pressed-powder antiperspirant contained in a neat little compact. You simply ply smooth the powder onto the palms of your hands before you go dancing. And against emergency, you tuck the compact into your purse.

But mind that you do not make a habit of using an antiperspirant on the hands. They are naturally a bit moist and that helps to keep them soft.

Ordinarily, if you wish to control excessive damp, apply cologne or talcum. Either can be carried in your purse. A tiny plastic shaker makes a good tote for talc. Cologne, of course, is available in small flacons or can be decanted into one.

By taking all those measures, you will put an end to the embarrassment. And did you know that embarrassment — fluster of any kind—causes the hands to grow moist far more often than heat and humidity?

Do you have a hand problem? Send today for LOVELIER HANDS, a booklet that covers every step in a quest for hand beauty. It tells how to keep the skin and nails groomed; how to overcome weak nails, polish chips, discolored knuckles, prominent veins, wrinkles; how to use the hands with poised grace. To obtain your copy, write Mary Sue Miller, Box 158, The Gettysburg Times, Dundee, Ill., enclosing a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin.

BRITONS VISIT RED CHINA IN GUIDED TOUR

EDITOR'S NOTE — Richard P. Lister is a 48 year-old British writer who has just come out of Red China following a three-week British Travel Agency tour. Here's his inside report on his first impressions of a country long barred to U.S. reporters, first of a series.

By RICHARD P. LISTER
PEKING (AP)—It's 7,000 miles from London to Red China. In 24 hours you are here if you have $1,540 to spend for a three weeks' tour—and the Chinese accept you. It works out at about 14 cents a mile.

Breakfast in London, lunch in Moscow, where most of the four-hour stop is spent filling in innumerable green forms demanded by rampant bureaucracy. One wonders if they are really friends, the Russians and the Chinese.

FIRST TOURISTS

Who makes this journey? delegations of workers and trade unionists from the Communist world, politicians and technical experts, and now the first tiny trickle of tourists. We are tourists and more important, organized tourists. The agency in London saw to that. Individual tourists can make it, with a struggle, but the Chinese prefer even their tourists to look like a delegation.

This group includes a lawyer, ex-member of the House of Commons who has written books on famous trials; a drama critic of a London Sunday newspaper; a farmer-baronet from the North of England; a retired industrialist and his wife, and several energetic old ladies in search of something of more interest than a beach.

On landing tea was served. Tea is served everywhere in China, at all hours.

Now, our "delegation" gets taken over by officialdom.

GUIDED TOUR

With our guide and an interpreter we strike out the next morning for the Imperial Palace—the forbidden city of imperial times—and then to the Great Hall of the People which is the Red Chinese parliament.

We're under surveillance, not because we're cloak and dagger types at all but because the Chinese want to be sure we don't become "incidents".

Through all this the Chinese show us what they choose to show and it's their best foot forward. Yet they cannot conceal many crowded, dilapidated dwellings and the primitive agricultural methods which call for backbreaking human labor for lack of a machine.

By the time we were swinging back toward Peking, it was impossible though to avoid concluding that the people all seemed to be the same: purposeful, contented, reasonable, calm. Nobody begged; nobody stole. No one looked hungry and if here and there a citizen was wearing little better than rags, the rags were carefully stitched and darned and patched.

Certainly there is government and party discipline. Yet the discipline among the people seemed deeper than all that—older, more dignified and above all coolly sure. None of us in our "delegation" felt we possessed this Chinese quality.

DISCIPLINED PEOPLE

The three-week tour ended back in Peking timed exactly for the May Day celebrations. Presiding over the festivities were five portraits exhibited everywhere in huge dimension. Mao Tse Tung, in solitary splendor, and facing him Marx, Engels, Lenin and Stalin.

In all the China we saw, there was not one single portrait of Nikita Khrushchev.

Next: Red China contrast.

17 KILLED IN PA. MISHAPS OVER WEEKEND

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Nearly three times the number of persons were killed in accidents in Pennsylvania this week end as were last weekend. Traffic again was the big killer.

Thirteen persons died on the highways during the county period from 6 p.m. Friday to midnight Sunday. Three persons died in fires and a small boy drowned bringing the over-all toll to 17. Last weekend traffic claimed five lives. There was one non-traffic fatality.

PRESBYTERIAN REPORT QUILTS CALVIN STAND

By GEORGE W. CORNELL

Associated Press Religion Writer
DES MOINES, Iowa (AP)—Presbyterians, spiritual descendants of John Calvin, generally don't go along with the way he mixed religion with government.

Their view is that each should keep official hands off the other.

This position, contrasting greatly with the 16th Century reformer's meshing of religious and political authority in Geneva, was highlighted today in a report before the United Presbyterian General Assembly.

MANY ISSUES

In probably the most clear-cut and detailed delineation ever projected by a church on the American scene, the proposed report marks off some sharp lines between church and state.

The report, up for action by representatives of the 3½-million-member denomination, deals with many of the hotly debated church-state issues smoldering in the nation.

Among other things, the report:

1. Opposes religious observances in the public schools, including Bible readings and prayers, which are described as tending "toward indoctrination of meaningless ritual."

2. Disapproves religious displays on public property.

3. Declares that a political candidate's religious affiliation, in itself, should not be a factor in evaluating his fitness for office.

4. Says the churches should not seek restrictive Sunday laws in order to "facilitate Christian observance of the Lord's Day."

OPPOSE TAX EXEMPTIONS

5. Criticizes tax exemptions for churches as putting them in a potentially compromising position, and says the church should begin "extricating itself from the posi-

M'LISH BLANKS GIANTS SUNDAY

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Veteran Cal McLish pitched the fourth shutout of his long major league career Sunday as the Philadelphia Phillies beat the National League leading San Francisco Giants 3-0 in the first game of a doubleheader. The Giants won the second 6-5 when Felipe Alou uncorked his eighth homer of the season in the ninth inning.

McLish, who joined the Phils in spring training last year, pitched his best game with the team walking none, striking out four and allowing only two men past first. Jack Fisher (3-4) took the loss.

Righthander John Boozar, just recalled from Little Rock, made his first big league start in the nightcap and got off to a 3-1 lead on second inning homers by Roy Sievers and Clay Dairymple.

The Giants, however, scored four times in the fifth with Ed Bailey hitting a three run homer. Pinch hitter Jim Lemmon doubled in a run in the ninth that tied it up till Alou homered.

BROADCASTERS HEAR COLLINS OUTLINE PLAN

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (AP) —The president of the National Association of Broadcasters has outlined a three-point program on which the broadcasting industry bases its relationship with the government.

Speaking to the Pennsylvania Association of Broadcasters Sunday night, Leroy Collins said:

1. "We abhor demagoguery and meaningless fulminating in empty clichés. When the government is wrong, we stand up and say when and how, and concentrate our efforts to achieve a remedy."
2. "We are developing as best we can an effective liaison between our staff and men in government, and between broadcasters throughout the land and men in government whom they have every reason and right to know and understand."
3. "We believe that the best and surest way this industry has for protecting itself against improper incursions from the government is along the twin highways of self-improvement and self-regulation."

WILL OPPOSE

Collins told the state broadcasters the industry will oppose everything the government may do or propose to do which is not a proper part of its responsibility in serving the public interest.

He said: "Our way of doing this does not please every broadcaster or everyone who rightly or wrongly assumes the responsibility to counsel with broadcasters about their government relations."

"But this is the way I and our board and our staff, and I am convinced the vast majority, feel will bring about the best results for the advancement of broadcasting and the welfare of broadcasters."

The former governor of Florida urged the industry to adhere to prohibitions against low commercial standards. At the same time, though, he said, "the very last thing we want to do is to contribute to conformity and stifle creativity in broadcast programming.

"I should like to see our Codes in the area of programming stand as righteous protectors of the creative and inventive talent which too often has not found broadcasting to be the congenial environment hoped for."

SUPPORT CODES

"Let us, as an industry stand solidly behind the Codes so that they in turn can stand solidly behind those broadcasters and programmers who dare to strike the sparks of creative talent."

"Let us insist that our Codes protect those sparks of creativity from all off the various influence in the land which seek to blow out all sparks which do not shine precisely the way they would have them shine."

Collins said that under this approach, some mistakes are bound to be made, adding: "You cannot expect to mine diamonds without coming up with some clinkers."

"But I would far rather see broadcasting make the relatively small mistakes and failures which arise out of attempts to achieve greatness than to make the soul-deadening mistake of imposing conformity and banality and non-controversiality."

DENVER (AP) — Billy Joe, 6-foot-2, 250-pound Villanova full-back from Coatesville, Pa., has signed a 1963 contract with the Denver Broncos of the American Football League. CLEVELAND (AP) — Elaine Hanzel and Bobbie Shaler of Chicago won the Women's National Doubles Bowling Championship Sunday night with a score of 6,212. Their victory was worth $1,200.

The twosome rolled a sparkling third-round block of 1,687 to edge Marion Ladewig, national All-Star champion from Grand Rapids, Mich., and Laverne Carter of St. Louis, by 24 pins.

HONOR CURTISS WITH MUSEUM

HAMMONDSPORT, N. Y. (AP) —The Glenn E. Curtiss Museum of Local History was dedicated Saturday to the memory of the man often considered the father of naval aviation.

The museum, in a two-story converted school house, was opened last year in this south-central New York community, the hub of the American plane industry more than a half-century ago. Curtiss founded the Glenn E. Curtiss Aircraft Co. here early in the century.

Curtiss was credited with inventing the first plane to land on water, pontoons enabling sea landings and a variety of engines and other planes. Aircraft brakes, metal prop-

Today In Washington

WASHINGTON (AP) — In the news from Washington:

LATIN AMERICA: Ambassador deLesseps S. Morrison says the Organization of American States will act soon to halt the flow of funds, Communist agents and propaganda from Cuba to other Latin American countries.

Morrison said Sunday he expects effective action soon after presentation of a report prepared by the OAS 11-nation vigilance committee on the Cuban subversion problem.

The American ambassador to the OAS spoke in a radio and television interview.

Meanwhile, Republican national chairman William E. Miller demanded that President Kennedy tell the people whether the Soviets are building a naval base at Banes, on the northeastern tip of Cuba.

"Fresh intelligence" has been received that a "heavily armed naval base" is under construction, Miller said in a statement.

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., replied that Miller's assertions amount to "mischievous nonsense, without any foundation whatsoever."

KENNEDY - MACMILLAN: White House press secretary Pierre Salinger has denied that President Kennedy snubbed British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan.

Relations between the two leaders are excellent, Salinger said Sunday.

He was asked to comment after Richard Crossman, a British Labor party spokesman, asserted Kennedy had administered a "deliberate and monumental snub" to Macmillan in connection with the President's trip to Europe in June.

Kennedy does not plan to see Macmillan or visit the United Kingdom on his trip.

INFORMATION: The Pentagon's information chief has promised "to avoid interference by legitimate news coverage" by newsmen and photographers at scenes of military air crashes outside military bases.

"It is clear policy of the Department of Defense to allow access to information concerning the Department of Defense to the maximum extent possible," Assistant Secretary of Defense Arthur Sylvester said in a statement Sunday.

Last week Chairman John Moss, D-Calif., of the House Government Information subcommittee, accused military officials of illegally restricting photographers covering military plane accidents in civilian areas.

MILITARY DEATHS: There were 4,579 deaths in the U.S. military services in the year ended April 30, with accidents taking the greatest toll.

Records made available today show that 1,226 were attributed to "natural causes." Except for a comparative few, the remainder resulted from accidents.

Cooper Tells About His Whirlwind Space Tour

By JOHN BARBOUR
Associated Press Science Writer
CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — Astronaut Gordon Cooper's space tale of his whirlwind world tour is a study in contrasts:

He saw the bamboo-curtained heart of Red China. He nearly saw his own home, hidden by trees, in Houston, Tex.

He saw things as colossal as the Himalayas, and things as puny as houses in India, truck, a boat, a train.

RELAXED STYLE

He awoke startled from his space sleep, forgetting for a moment where he was. Yet he had the greatest presence of mind in flying his spacecraft back to earth through the roaring and dangerous moments of re-entry.

But somehow in the telling at Sunday's news conference, in Cooper's own relaxed and light style, it all seemed to come out the same.

The first signal of trouble with his automatic pilot was the flashing green of a warning light.

"I thought maybe at first I'd just ignore it, but I decided maybe I better not," he said. "I was afraid it wouldn't go away."

RE-ENTRY EASIER

"I found that the re-entry (into the earth's denser atmosphere) was easier on the first portion than what we had been practicing in procedures trainer with the computers. Everything went very well on it."

With the calm diagnostic tones of an engineer, he measured the preciseness of each element of his flight. Occasionally his humor caught the situation.

One chore aboard was to transfer to separate containers urine samples collected at various stages of the flight — for later analysis. It would help, he said, to have larger fittings on the transfer pump. It took half an orbit — something like 45 minutes — to complete one pumping operation.

His fellow astronauts, sitting to one side, led the news conference audience in laughter.

LIQUID POT ROAST

He held up a plastic container of brown and yellow dehydrated food, and admitted some difficulty in adding water to it during the flight. What was it? a newsman asked. Pot roast, Cooper answered.

Cooper marveled at the precision of his launch. "I felt as if I was right out on the point of the needle, being put right in the target," he said.

ARMS A PROBLEM

He had no difficulty sleeping in space, save one. He awoke once to find his arms in weightlessness hanging in the cockpit in front of him. "It is rather distracting," he said, especially with the multitude of critical control switches out there in front of him in easy reach. When he slept, his spacecraft was powered down, so the problem wasn't too serious. He added:

"Still it seems like you shouldn't sleep with your arms hanging out that way. It seemed like an odd position."

SAY LEGEND OVERPLAYED IN TV SHOW

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
NEW YORK (AP)—It was certainly dramatic last night on NBC, the attraction being a bit of over-acted nonsense called "The Legend of Lillith Clare."

A shy, young girl (Tuesday Weld) named Elsie Brinkmann from Minnesota, catches the eye of a theatrical agent because she looks exactly like a long-dead film femme fatale ("monster, demon, witch-ravishing") named Lillith Clare.

If everybody had played the script tongue-in-cheek, it would have been an acceptable Hollywood satire — and funnier than "Miser Ed."

Tuesday Weld surely is a beautiful little girl, though.

RADIO WAS BEST

Radio, as it turned out, was the very best way to follow the Cooper journey in space from the moment the rocket shot out of sight. But a lot of us kept glued to television hoping vainly to see live television pictures of the world below the astronaut.

Picking the network which provided the "best" coverage was rather like choosing the color of a dress, a matter of personal taste. One was about as good as the other, which was generally excellent.

I found Merrill Mueller's running commentary on NBC television to be my favorite—his explanations were clear and he avoided Cape Canaveral jargon — and I also preferred John Chancellor's calm and precise reports on NBC's radio network.

TRUCE DECLARED

A truce apparently has been declared between the producers of "Route 66" and its former star, George Maharis, out of the show since November when he had a relapse after hepatitis. Maharis will appear, as a singer, on the June 16 Ed Sullivan Show—an appearance postponed from December, when the "Route 66" people declared that if Maharis was well enough to sing on the Sullivan show, he was well enough to return to his acting job.

OCEAN CITY, N.J. (AP)—Pennsylvania and the U.S. Justice Department have agreed to coordinate their crime-busting activities, says state Atty. Gen. Walter E. Alessandrini.

At his summer home here, Alessandrini said Saturday that State Police Commissioner E. Wilson Purdy and state police detective Commander Capt. W. Jesse Stanton met Wednesday with William Hundley, chief of the Justice Department's organized crime and rackets section.

WHEAT VOTE ON TUESDAY IS DECISIVE

By EDMUND R. D'MOCH

CHICAGO (AP) — The nation's estimated 1,800,000 wheat farmers will vote Tuesday on whether they want tighter wheat controls to curb production.

This is the 12th referendum since 1941, when the first such vote taken.

But it is the first time that farmers who grow wheat on 15 acres or less will vote. Heretofore, the voting was restricted to growers of wheat on more than 15 acres.

If two-thirds of the voters approve the new controls, they will go into effect next year. If the program is rejected acreage allotments will continue and price supports will be available at about one-half of parity, or around $1.25 a bushel. There will be no marketing quotas or cash penalties for excess production.

The new program would cut the 1964 wheat acreage 10 percent from 55 million acres to 49.5 million acres. Wheat would be divided into two price categories. Eighty per cent of the 1964 crop would go for domestic food use and exports and would be supported at $2 a bushel. The remainder would go for livestock feed and other non-food uses and would be supported at $1.30 a bushel. A farmer who retired from wheat production a portion of his old allotment would be paid by the government. Any farmers who violated the regulations could be fined and jailed.

The parade ended at a beach front motel where the girls sat demurely and listened to their father describe his 22-orbit space flight for the benefit of the 700 newsmen who had watched him blast off four days earlier.

TATE FAVORED FOR MAYOR OF PHILADELPHIA

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Attention in a statewide primary election will be focused on this city Tuesday where the Democratic organization, threatened by internal rumblings, puts its vast power on the line in the mayoralty contest.

Mayor James H. J. Tate, the organization candidate for a full four year term, is expected to win easily over independent Walter Phillips, whose chief sponsor is the Americans for Democratic Action.

Tate has predicted only 16,000 votes will be cast for Phillips out of what the Democrats hope will be a party turnout of more than 300,000.

However, a big vote for Phillips would be regarded as an indication of dissatisfaction with the current party leadership that delivered a better than 300,000 majority for President Kennedy in the city alone in 1960.

HAS PARTY SUPPORT

Tate, 53, is a former city council president. He stepped up to mayor in February, 1962, when Democrat Richardson Dilworth resigned to run, unsuccessfully, for governor. He has the backing of top Democrats.

Phillips has been campaigning hard, charging corruption in city hall and accusing Tate of involvement in alleged political payoffs. Tate has denied the charges.

Phillips, 51, an attorney and chairman of the southeastern Pennsylvania chapter of the Americans for Democratic Action also has the backing of Pennsylvania's Democratic Senator, Joseph S. Clark.

Phillips was director of commerce when Clark was elected Philadelphia mayor in 1950.

INDICATES RIFT

Clark's backing of Phillips indicates a rift in the party. When the Democrats held a $25-a-plate Jefferson-Jackson Day dinner last week, Clark was not invited.

H. Jerome Jaspian, an attorney and former state senator is also seeking the Democratic nomination.

The Republican side, attorney James T. McDermott, 36, backed by the Republican organization, is expected to overwhelm three other contestants — computer-assembler Ralph C. Morone, grocer Emory W. Dawes, and accountant Joseph A. Schafer.

Voter registration for the primary in Philadelphia shows 582,130 Democrats and 365,380 Republicans. Usually only about 29 per cent of the registered Democrats turn out for the primary.

Harrisburg and more than a score of other cities also have mayoralty contests.

The only statewide contests—two seats on the state superior court—suffer from a traditional apathy in judicial elections.

Walter Reported In Fair Condition

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Francis E. Walter, D-Pa., was reported still in fair condition today at Georgetown University Hospital.

"There's nothing new to report," Dr. Darrell Crain said of the 68-year-old chairman of the House Un-American Activities Committee.

The physician last night would neither confirm nor deny reports that Walter is suffering leukemia complicated by pneumonia. His illness has been described only as a respiratory ailment.

"I can assure you he does not have the usual type of cancer," Dr. Crain said. "His condition is not critical; he is up and around."

ROCKY MUST REVIEW HIS '64 CHANCES

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—An intensive reassessment of the political situation will be the order of the day for New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller when he returns from his honeymoon.

What his private pollsters tell him about the political effect of his marriage to divorcee Margaretta Fitter Murphy could have a direct bearing on whether the governor plunges into an active drive for the 1964 Republican presidential nomination or merely coasts along awaiting developments.

If the indications are that his marriage has built up resistance to his nomination, the governor can be expected to tread water for a while until a new canvass can be made this fall. If relatively clear sailing is in prospect, he may step up his campaigning.

GREAT BELIEVER

Rockefeller is a great believer in polls. He also is a man who plays his politics close to his vest, seldom confiding his plans in advance even to party allies. For example, he told Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, R-N.Y., only 20 minutes before the ceremony that he was going to be married.

Although Rockefeller has made all of the familiar motions of a candidate for the nomination, his remarriage after being divorced last year by his wife of 31 years has injected a new element of doubt about his intentions.

What Rockefeller's marriage has done to his prospects for the nomination and to his chances of beating President Kennedy, if the governor should be the GOP standard bearer, remain a subject of discussion and disagreement.

Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, who has adopted a neutral stance on the choice of a nominee, said in a separate interview he thinks the whole matter will blow over in a few weeks.

This is essentially the same

Ivan E. Arentz, Woodrow D. Crabbs, Roy A. Sterner and Orville C. Sentz served as ushers. The sermon was delivered by the pastor, the Rev. G. Howard Koons. The choir sang the anthem "Praise Ye the Father," accompanied by Fred A. Warner. The bulletins were presented by Mr. and Mrs. Lewis E. Bair in memory of his mother, Mrs. Athalia D. Bair, and by Mr. and Mrs. Donald L. Wolfe in honor of their fourth wedding anniversary. The altar flowers were placed by the Altar Guild. Members and friends of the confirmation class should contact Harold E. Shoemaker to order pictures of the class.

The Young Married Couples Class of the Sunday School, taught by Harold Shoemaker is again sponsoring a special Father's Day bulletin. Names will be listed in memory of fathers by contacting a member of the class. Preview taken in private conversations by Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., regarded as a rival of the governor for the nomination.

Goldwater has told friends he thinks if the election were this year the remarriage might damage Rockefeller's chances. But he has said he thinks the issue will be eclipsed in 1964.

Sen. Abraham A. Ribicoff, D-Conn., who managed Kennedy's successful 1960 convention bid for the Democratic nomination, came up with a Democratic slant.

Ribicoff said he thinks Rockefeller already has concluded from his private polls that he can't beat Kennedy in 1964 and wants to wait to try for the 1968 GOP nomination.

DEFENSE SAYS KILLER INSANE

ERIE, Pa. (AP)—Attorneys for accused killer Daniel R. Biebighauser continue to press their defense that the 21-year-old Erie man is a homicidal maniac.

An unidentified 16-year-old girl testified Saturday that Biebighauser seemed insane when he tried to rape her last December.

Biebighauser is on trial for the strangulation of Mary Lynn Crotty, 20, of Lawrence Park, a coed at Edinboro State College.

The trial was in recess Sunday.

NO SPECTATORS

No spectators were permitted at the trial Saturday. The teen-age girl told the jury Biebighauser picked her up in his car last Dec. 2 and drove to a side road. She said he hit her across the throat, and choked her into unconsciousness.

She said she regained consciousness, passed out and then awoke again. She said Biebighauser had cut her clothes off with a knife and tried to rape her but failed.

"He was talking, but he was not talking to me," she told the jury. "He thought I was someone else. He was hitting me in the face and then suddenly he stopped. It was like he was coming out of a trance. I don't think he knew what he was doing. I don't know what he was doing. I think he was insane."

She said Biebighauser apologized and helped her dress.

The mother of the accused, Mrs. Beverly Biebighauser, told the court her son displayed an unusual interest in sex at an early age.

She also said Biebighauser was an unwanted child, adding that she had separated with her husband shortly after he was born.

TRADE BLOCS AGREE TO U.S. TARIFF PLAN

By CARL HARTMAN

GENEVA (AP)—The European Common Market countries agreed today to American demands for across-the-board tariff cuts. This apparent reversal of position was aimed at ending the deadlock between the world's two greatest trading blocs.

But at the same time the six European countries demanded that in return the United States agree to an automatic formula for adjusting gaps between high American tariffs and lower European ones.

WANT TRADE

West German Economics Minister Ludwig Erhard claimed credit for the new proposal, which he said he thought would end the deadlock with the United States.

French Finance Minister Valéry Giscard d'Estaing said "It's for the Americans to say."

The full session of the 73-nation General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade conference marked time while the Common Market and the Americans jockeyed for position.

Chairman Hans Schaffner of Switzerland called off an afternoon meeting but agreed to pre-empt a special evening session of the disputing sides.

Crux of the situation is that ministers of the Common Market countries—France, West Germany, Italy, the Netherlands, Belgium and Luxembourg—insist on reductions in individual U.S. tariffs they considered too high as well as agreed general cuts.

The U.S. delegation has insisted on equal percentage cuts from both sides, with a goal of slashes as high as 50 per cent. It wants to open formal bargaining sessions May 6, 1964.

Scott Is Leaning To Parochial Help

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Hugh Scott, R-Pa., says he has "a leaning toward the belief" that direct federal aid to secondary private and parochial schools would be constitutional.

He made the statement Sunday in his transcribed weekly radio-television show with Democratic Sen. Joseph S. Clark, while discussing the Kennedy administration's education program with their guest, U. S. Commissioner of Education Francis Keppel.

Keppel also said the legal advisers of the Health, Education and Welfare Department thought such aid would be unconstitutional.

Clark, supporting the entire program, said the "omnibus" approach—tying various programs together into a single package—has worked well in housing legislation. He said the packaged program would more support there than each aspect might have won individually.

Musical Blast Kills Five Cows

HORNCHURCH, England (AP)—The Hornchurch Drum and Trumpet Corps went for a weekend rehearsal in Peter Read's pasture.

Read's 50 cows lifted their heads with interest as bandmaster Brian Keeler raised his baton for John Philips Sousa's "Semper Fidelis."

The drums crashed out and the horns blared.

Five cows dropped dead. The rest stampeded.

Keeler apologized profusely.

"They were obviously terrified by the noise," said Read. But he added that he wouldn't sue—"these things happen."

MIRACLE SLED NEEDS NO FUEL

By KEN JACKSON

OPPSAHL, Norway (AP)—Interested in an inexpensive vehicle that burns no fuel, requires nothing to maintain, yet will start in the coldest weather to provide both transportation and recreation?

The Norwegians already have such a miracle machine. They call it a spark.

In Norway, especially in the snowy north, sparks are used for nearly all outdoor activity; shopping, courting, playing and movement of light freight.

The spark is a sort of super sled, with long flexible runners and a wooden framework that includes a seat and handles that reach to the waist or shoulders, depending upon the size of the operator. They come in many sizes. Some are collapsible, folding up like lawn chairs for storage or movement aboard cars and buses.

LIKE SCOOTER

The spark grasps the handles, places one foot on a runner and then pushes off with the other foot in a movement like that of a child on a scooter. And the speedy sled is off—zipping down a snow-packed road.

The seat can be used for passengers or packages. In rural areas, farmers move sacks of grain about with their sparks or even transport live animals for market or mating. Bundles from the store are often held down with cord fastened to the frame.

Sometimes as many as eight children can be seen careening down a hill on a single spark, some sitting on the seat and bumper and the rest bunched on the runners. They occasionally harness up a large dog for pulling power.

For the elderly, sparks provide sturdy support on slippery roads.

For courting—or if you'll forgive the pun, sparking—the sled has an ideal design. The boy stands on one runner and the girl on the other. Each grasps a handle and puts the free arm around the other's waist. With two feet per pushing, they can whizz down the road at a good clip. Or, weather permitting, they can park at some

Pittsburgh Conductor Leads "Risky" Music

By MURRAY CHASS

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Defying the safety and security of tradition, conductor William Steinberg of the Pittsburgh Symphony Orchestra is earning a reputation as a fearless director with progressive musical ideas.

Now in his 11th season with the orchestra, the German-born Steinberg—successor to such men as Victor Herbert and Fritz Reiner—has led his musicians through works which many conductors shun. And he has taken his ideas throughout the country and the world.

His concern for unpopular pieces which he deems worthy of performance spans the composing roster—from long, dead, neglected masters to very live and "way out" innovators.

"The literature is so enormous," the 63-year-old, 5-foot-6 conductor says, "I look into what my colleagues won't. I was the first one to play the 'Six Pieces' by Anton Webern."

"Actually, I am not successful. I merely dare. I take a risk. Criticism I get anyway."

PRESENTED "LELIO"

Earlier this season Steinberg took a critical risk in presenting the 131-year-old "Lelio" symphony of Hector Berlioz in its American premiere—a sort of missing link which falls second in the four symphonies which Berlioz composed.

He also took this piece to New York's Carnegie Hall and preceded it with Berlioz' first symphony, the "Fantastique," just as the composer had intended. Some of the New York critics were impressed and some were not, but those who liked it gave it fulsome praise.

In the past few seasons Steinberg also has played Gustav Mahler's mammoth Seventh Symphony and Anton Bruckner's equally massive Fifth Symphony, which some conductors shrink romantic spot.

AIDS ROMANCE

But a fellow must be careful where he parks his spark. If it's left too long outside a girl's house, gossip will start.

Most sparks are left the natural wood color but a few display bright paint. Some are equipped with small blades on the front bumper so they can be pushed about as snow plows.

Like a first bicycle, nothing can please a child much more than receiving his own gleaming new spark for Christmas or birthday. It's often a gift used throughout life.

With an average cost of about $6, why isn't the spark a rage in the export trade? Perhaps there isn't enough snow to make them popular in other countries.

The representative of an distributing company has a simpler answer. He says there aren't enough sparks manufactured to meet Norway's own demand.

One day's use of the all-purpose vehicle convinced this visitor why.

TEXAS SCHOOL ADDS LIBRARY OF HEMINGWAY

By JACK KEEVER

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—Author Ernest Hemingway once said he didn't believe his books would stand as a literary monument.

"I am not always happy about what I write," the bearded writer said shortly before his death in 1961. "I am a writer by determination rather than natural talent."

Whether Hemingway really meant what he said may be a subject for 21st Century classroom debate.

One scholar, Dr. F. Warren Roberts of the University of Texas, thinks that 50 years from now students of literature will probe Hemingway's works and the period in which he wrote just as the works of Byron, Shelley and Keats have been inspected.

"For that reason," says Roberts, "we're trying to build up a research collection for the study of the writing of American authors in the 20th Century."

IMPORTANT AUTHORS

As director of the university's humanities research center, Roberts guides a program designed to collect important authors' works before they become scattered and possibly lost.

Some of Hemingway's manuscripts, books inscribed by him, galley proofs corrected in his own handwriting and letters to and from the late author make up an important part of that collection. A recent addition, valued at approximately $50,000, brought the university's efforts to the public eye.

It came from Lee Samuels of New York, a book dealer and former fishing companion of Hemingway. It consists primarily of books and magazines with autographed marginal notes and some of Hemingway's letters to Samuels. Also included were galley proofs, corrected in the author's own hand, of "The Old Man and the Sea," a book which Hemingway himself said he wished to be the "crowning work of my life."

"We can get things like this practically free now," Roberts said. "The real service, however, will come 50 to 75 years from now."

NOT EXPENSIVE

Acquiring collections, said Roberts, is far less expensive than buying items individually.

"Many of our acquisitions, including those of Hemingway's works, are part gift and part purchase," he said.

He considers the "big prizes" to be handwritten or typed manuscripts by important authors. Falling in this category are the manuscript of "Death in the Afternoon," a story of bullfighting, and one of Hemingway's best known short stories, "The Snows of Kilimanjaro," both now the property of the university.

Other items in the collection are the typed manuscript of "Big Two Hearted River" and the handwritten 12th chapter of "My Grandmother."

The manuscript of "Death in the Afternoon," a three-inch stack of loose-leaf sheets, particularly is interesting. It consists of pages typed and written in a legible but slanting style in ink and pencil, with numerous inserts, erasures and deletions.

It verifies the author's statement that "I take great pains with my work, pruning and revising with a tireless hand."

These original manuscripts are invaluable to research, Roberts believes, for "actually, there is no way to judge the value of things unique."

Eastern League

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Springfield Giants, getting stellar relief pitching from Frank Linzy after losing starter Tommy Aruda because of injury, whipped the Charleston Indians 8-4 Sunday and moved three games in front of the Class AA Eastern League.

Aruda was hit by a pitched ball in the fourth and was hospitalized with a slight concussion. Charleston starter Steve Bailey also went to the hospital after a line drive smashed into his hand in the fourth. His injury was diagnosed as a bad bruise.

Linzy retired 15 men in a row to chalk up his fifth win against one loss. He slammed a homer off Bailey.

In other games, Elmira beat York 6-4 leaving 11 of the heavier hitting White Roses stranded on base, and Binghamton downed Reading 3-1 behind the three-hit pitching of Nick Curtis, who posted his first win of the season. Reading starter Guido Grilli took the loss, committing two errors on one play in the seventh allowing three Triplets runs.

In Saturday's games, York defeated Elmira 4-1 while Reading at Binghamton and Charleston at Springfield were rained out.

Soviet Chess Players Train In Secrecy For World Title

By REINHOLD ENSZ

MOSCOW (AP)—How does one get ready to do battle for the world chess crown?

The defending champion was out skiing. His challenger was training by playing table tennis and billiards.

But, like many other things in the Soviet Union, their full preparations were veiled somewhat by secrecy. Both of the players are Soviet citizens—champion Mikhail Botvinnik and challenger Tigran Petrosyan—and both are living in secluded dachas near Moscow.

A request for information about their preparations was duly submitted to the Soviet government. Finally, permission was granted for an interview with Lev Abramov, deputy chairman of the Soviet Chess Federation, who has attended to announce:

"We don't know exactly what they did, because that is their secret."

However, quite by accident, I happen to know that Botvinnik did a lot of skiing, even during the worst cold weather. He didn't miss a day.

"And Petrosyan, I understand, played table tennis and billiards. Abramov said both men also ran through practice chess games with close friends; Botvinnik with Semyon Furman and Petrosyan with Isaac Boleslavsky."

The first game of the world championship match was played March 23, on the stage of the Estrada variety theater, across the river from the Kremlin. The silent battle of wits is expected to last at least two months, until the latter part of May.

There will be 24 games, and they are being played on Mondays, Wednesdays and Saturdays. Adjournments are being played on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Fridays.

The theater is the same one in which Botvinnik recaptured the world chess title from Mikhail Tal of the USSR at the last match in 1961.

Abramov said the theater, which normally shelters some of the best variety shows in town, was chosen because it has a good ventilation system and the temperature can be kept at a constant, comfortable level.

TWO REFEREES

The two referees will also be the same as last time: Gideon Stahlberg, Swedish grandmaster, and Harry Golombek, an international master from Britain. They, too, were chosen because they are not likely to upset the players.

"Both Stahlberg and Golombek are very quiet and not at all nervous," Abramov commented. "They are also very objective, and there wasn't a single incident at the last tournament."

The theater seats 1,300 persons. Because Russians love chess, at least 1,000 of the seats are generally occupied. During crucial matches, hundreds are turned away.

Although the spectators become excited during the play, they are kept under control. If the murmuring comment rises too high, an official immediately appears on stage and holds up a sign reading: "Quiet."

Girl Scout News

Intermediate Girl Scout Troop 745 took a trip to Lancaster on Saturday. The Scouts left from St. Francis Xavier Church at 7 a.m. and returned at 8 p.m. The girls took a nosebag lunch.

Places of interest visited were Pennsylvania Farm Museum, Wheatland, the home of James Buchanan; the Ephrata Cloisters and the North Museum and planetarium of Franklin and Marshall College. Scouts who attended were: Diane Auchter, Becky Brown, Susan Hess, Carol Black, Joyce Kerrigan, Nora Hankey, Vicki Ohler, Melvina Rogers, Katie Ritter and Barbara Rohanna. Transportation was provided by Mrs. Joseph Hess and Mrs. Francis Auchter, committee members. Leaders were Mrs. Jay P. Brown and Mrs. Rosalie M. Capozzi and Vicki Shetter was the senior aide. Mrs. Clarence E. Wilson was a guest.

NOMINATE
Hamiltonban Township

for
Commissioner of Adams County

To the Citizens of Adams County:

As a life-long resident of the county, as a lumber-business man, and as a farmer in the fruitgrowing business, I would like to state the following views regarding the office of County Commissioner:

1. I am for at least one Commissioner being present in the office five days each week.
2. I will strive for local government.
3. I will spend the Taxpayers' money only when and where necessary.
4. I will keep the Commissioners' office open through the noon hour and, if necessary, until 5:00 P.M. in order to give the Taxpayer more time to do business.
5. I will conduct the office according to the County code.
6. I am for sound, efficient county government.

If nominated, these points will be my platform.

I thank you for your support at the Republican Primary May 21, 1963.

URSULA IS NOT THE STANDARD STARLET TYPE

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Whatever happened to cheesecake? The once-hallowed Hollywood institution of leg art dates back to Theda Bara's heyday. It reached its peak in World War II, when the poses of Betty Grable, Rita Hayworth, etc., adorned foxholes and bulkheads from Saipan to Salerno.

Cheesecake impelled the careers of Marilyn Monroe, Jane Russell, Ava Gardner and a host of other lovelies, but alas, it has almost disappeared from the local scene.

SHE DOESN'T WANT TO

The reason? Studio economics have slashed budgets for starlets and press agents. And styles change. Cuties in swim suits might seem tame in competition with the nudies of the men's magazines.

But here is a girl who could bring back cheesecake — Ursula Andress. Her eye-popping figure might make her the pin-up girl of the Space Age.

There is only one trouble: She doesn't want to be.

"I would feel like an idiot, posing like this," she declared, assuming the standard bathing beauty positions.

BIKINI OR LESS

The only time she likes to pose is for her husband, actor John Derek, who has photographed her with handsome results, and when her film role calls for exposure of her magnificent frame. The latter happens in "Dr. No," in most of which she appears in a bikini or less.

Ursula is not even sure she wants to be an actress.

"Acting is so much work, and I am lazy," she commented.

You may have the impression that Ursula Andress is not the standard type of movie hopeful. Correct. She was Swiss-born of German parents, educated in Berne and Paris, went to Rome and broke into Italian films, then was called to Hollywood by Paramount.

There was only one trouble: Her French, German and Italian were excellent; her English was nil.

Paramount finally gave up on Ursula, and Columbia signed her. But then she married Derek and preferred to follow him on his film-making travels. When he settled here for a television series, she accepted the role in "Dr. No."

MOSCOW (AP)—President Kennedy's jet airliner has set a speed record for a Washington-to-Moscow flight, answering Soviet taunts that no American aircraft could make the 5,004-mile trip without stopping.

Kennedy's personal pilot, Col. James B. Swindal of Birmingham, Ala., landed the Boeing 707 here Sunday after a flight of 8 hours 38 minutes 42 seconds. He said the only other Washington-Moscow nonstop flight he knew of was a Soviet flight which took 12 hours.

The plane brought Glenn T. Seaborg, chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission, and nine other U.S. officials for an exchange visit to the Soviet Union.

Man Jailed For Fatal Shooting

LANSDOWN, Pa. (AP)—Robert Lore, 27, of Coaldale, is being held in Carbon County jail in connection with the fatal shooting of Ronald Stack, 27, of Coaldale, state police said.

Sgt. Michael Dean of the Hazleton barracks said no formal charges had been filed against Lore. He said Lore had made a statement, but he declined to elaborate pending further investigation today.

Dean said Stack, shot through the head by a .38-caliber pistol, was found in the men's washroom of the Edgemont Lodge here early Saturday.

He said Lore, taken into custody at his home by Coaldale Police Chief Ben Herring several hours later, had a .38-caliber pistol and admitted being in the lodge with a party of eight shortly after midnight, about the time of the shooting.

NOT MORE THAN HALF OF STATE VOTERS TO ACT

HARRISBURG (AP)—Less than half the state's nearly 5½ million voters are expected to cast ballots in Tuesday's primary election.

Most of the interest will be centered on local races, as the only statewide contests this year are for two seats on the seven-member superior court.

Both major parties are calling for large turnouts, but with the party-endorsed candidates almost assured of nomination enthusiasm over the outcome will not nearly approach that shown during a general election.

MAY BE ONLY 35 PCT.

Some observers have predicted a turnout as low as 35 per cent of the total registration which is 5,402,739 voters, including 2,709,595 Democrats and 2,624,370 Republicans.

The Democratic edge of 85,225 means nothing in a primary election. The margin, however, represents less than half of what the Democrats held over the GOP in last fall's general election.

The superior court candidates in the primary are running unopposed except for cross-filing.

TWO CROSS-FILE

The two Democratic candidates, State Sen. Paul W. Mahady of Latrobe and Philadelphia Judge J. Sydney Hoffman, cross-filed on the Republican ticket. This procedure is permitted only to judicial candidates in municipal primaries.

The two Republican incumbents seeking re-election to 10-year terms are Judges Harold L. Ervin and J. Colvin Wright of Bedford.

Other contests around the state are strictly local with Philadelphia's Democratic mayoralty primary probably attracting the most attention.

Mayor James H. J. Tate is the organization candidate for retention of the office to which he was appointed last year following the resignation of Richardson Dilworth.

MANY MAYOR RACES

Opposing Tate is Walter M. Phillips, who has the endorsement of U.S. Sen. Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa., himself a former mayor of Philadelphia.

Although Clark has promised to support the Democratic nominee in the general election next November, his endorsement of Phillips has compounded the growing differences between the senator and U.S. Rep. William J. Green Jr., D-Pa., Philadelphia Democratic chairman.

Mayors also will be nominated in 24 third class cities, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Scranton and several third class cities will be

TEAMSTERS VOTE STRIKE

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Members of four Teamsters locals ratified a three year contract with 500 Philadelphia area trucking firms Sunday but voted to strike June 5 if agreement is not reached with 300 other firms.

The 300 firms are members of Motor Transport Labor Relations, Inc., reportedly the only employer group in the nation that has refused to accept contract provisions that would pave the way for a nationwide linking of contracts.

Nationwide agreements with a common expiration date have long been a goal of International Teamster President James R. Hoffa.

Ratifying the contract Sunday were members of Locals 107, 470, 331, and 312. Only 32 of the eligible 5,000 drivers voted against the pact that brings their pay scale into line with that of teamsters in the New York-New Jersey area.

Although the pact is a three year agreement it has a reopening clause that provides renegotiation of all points to coincide with a national expiration date next August.

Also provided in the pact besides improved fringe benefits, are wage hikes that will guarantee a $3.13 minimum for all union members by Jan. 1, 1964.

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP)—Egyptian opposition to Syria's ruling Ba'ath party amounts to withdrawal from the proposed federation of Syria, Iraq, and Egypt, the official Ba'athist newspaper says.

Replying Sunday to an attack from one of President Gamal Abdel Nasser's chief mouthpieces, the newspaper Al Ba'ath accused Egypt of breaking up the proposed federation, scheduled to go into effect in September.

The Cairo article, written by Mohammed Heikal, editor of Al Ahrar, asserted there can be no co-existence between Nasser's regime and Syria's Ba'ath-controlled government. The Syrian paper said this also means there can be no cooperation between Cairo and the Ba'athists ruling Iraq.

BANDUNG, West Java (AP)—President Sukarno accepted appointment as Indonesia's chief of state for life today.

"Follow my leadership. I devote my life for you, the Indonesian people," the 61-year-old president told a crowd of 10,000 in the city square.
